System requirements

Smallworld GIS, Version 4

Print & Go provides a printing tool which surpasses the system's own printer functions and dialogues of Smallworld GIS by far. This tool is a must for every user of Smallworld 4 since all the important printing and plotting functions are clearly grouped together on a single dialogue window. In addition to the above, Print & Go provides the possibility of so-called cross-border or interdisciplinary printing. In the latter process, visual presentation of the sectors defined in GIS on the basis of object class settings or of new functional items is successively displayed for the one time specified printing zone. Print & Co also supports the physical process of printing with all paper sizes as well as virtual printing and the generation of file formats such as PDF or JPG.

A particularly comfortable function is the definition of the printing zone. The print frame can be shifted in all directions and rotated while essential information contained in the template such as view port and paper area is visible. For simple positioning, the insertion point can be dynamically changed by a keyboard shortcut and a capture point on the grid be activated.

Functional or user-specific texts of the template are also fully supported by Print & Go as early as the prior view or on printout.
